Rt Hon. Justine Greening MP
Secretary of State for Education and Minister for Women and Equalities, United Kingdom

Justine Greening is a founding member of the UN Secretary-General’s High-Level Panel on Women’s Economic Empowerment.

In July 2016, Justine Greening was appointed as the UK Secretary of State for Education and Minister for Women and Equalities, with overall responsibility for UK’s policy on women and UK’s equality strategy. Prior to this role, Justine Greening was the UK Secretary of State for International Development, where she put improving the lives of women and girls at the heart of the UK’s international development approach.

Justine Greening held the first-ever Girl Summit in London to mobilize international work to combat Female Genital Mutilation and early and forced marriage, with young people at the centre of this work.
